7. A hnuai thu hi Zotawng tluang pangngaiin han let teh. 5

'Idleness' says Gandhi is a great enemy of man. In fact, it is a curse. It practically ruins us. It makes us indolent and ease loving. It takes out all active habits from us. It destroys all possibilities of advancement and progress of a man. It makes him an utter failure in life. It makes him completely worthless and incapable of doing any useful work. Idleness begets poverty, suffering and vice. It makes its victim a burden on society.
